

MPA is a trade association representing over 500 magazine media brands, and has been the voice of the magazine industry for over 100 years. Our members use the Postal Service to deliver our members' consumer print magazine titles to more than 90 percent of American adults. MPA has long been a supporter of the Postal Service, and has a strong interest in the efficient processing and reliable service delivery of Periodicals and First-Class Mail.

MPA's position on the proposed changes in services will depend on the magnitude of impact that the proposed changes will have on Periodicals volume. MPA intends to file interrogatories seeking further information from the Postal Service in this regard. MPA requests a hearing, but has yet not determined whether it will actively participate in the hearing.
